“ I remember the first time I met you. I had just switched schools and you lived near me. You jumped out of a tree and introduced yourself and from that point we were best friends. I'll never forget you.

“ This is how I will remember Chelsea... happy, loving on her kids... My heart goes out to your whole family... and to our son AJ... may you find peace in the memories of good times, may God hold you in the palm of his hand and bring you comfort, strength and resilience through this day and the days to come... We love you and you are in our prayers and in our thoughts

“ My daughter was one of the most giving people I ever met. One year, when she was in high school, she spent all of her xmas money (we voted to give the kids money that year to buy their own presents) by buying presents for a couple of friends that she knew weren't going to get much that xmas. I remember trying to decide whether I was angry at her or proud of her for spending almost $500 on everyone else. For herself that year, she bought a pair of jeans and a shirt. That was it. In the end I guess I was a little of both.

*I lost you 4 weeks ago today. I miss you Chelsea. I miss your laugh and your ability to smile when most people would have cried. I'm sorry your life had to end so soon. I pray you are at peace now.
