Alice "Lee" Scott Frizielle, a beloved resident of Hot Springs, Arkansas, passed away on February 29, 2024. Born to Mary Winifred Wadsworth Taylor and Byron "Bama" Scott on April 23, 1963, in Tuskegee, Alabama, Lee's life was a tapestry of love and laughter. “ Lee was my best friend many years ago when I'd moved to the Orlando area. We met working together and I'm so thankful for her 3 years of friendship before I moved back to NC. She was a one-of-a-kind encourager and was so loyal and faithful - she always kept it real (which I loved) and had the best sense of humor. It's been 30 years since we met, and I still use some of her expressions - and every time I see anything to do with AU, I think of her. I've been trying to connect with her for a couple years, and now I know why I didn't hear back. I'm so sad to have come across this and my prayers for God's peace and comfort go out to Taylor and her family. I know he was her world. Wish I could have talked to her one last time and reminded her how much her friendship meant to me. May we meet again in heaven, Lee.

“ Met Lee in Benton, AR working on a store recovery for Dollar General. Knowing we were both Auburn fans sparked a friendly working relationship that was a joy and made going to work fun. She will be missed.

“ This woman believed in me when I didn't believe in myself. I grew to love her dearly in the short period of time that I was blessed to know her. She refused to give up on me or allow me to give up on myself. She was always my voice of reasoning and reassurance. I will miss her so so much! Prayers for her family. Rest easy Sweet Lee ❤️

“ I will never forget the first time I met Lee. My husband and I had just started working for Driveline. Lee was the manager of the DG on Albert Pike. Neither Mark or I knew what we were doing. They sent us there to do a cosmetic reset. I ended up sitting on the floor softly crying. Lee came up sit down beside me and taught me how to do the reset. She became my friend and HERO that day. I will always love her. Rest in Peace sweet friend. Fly high with your War Eagle.

“ Taylor and Amy, I am so sorry to see this about Lee! She always made me laugh, even back in the day when I worked at the bank with Winn. Then later, she was at my DG down the street before she moved up. Always with that big smile! I'm keeping you in my prayers.
