She is preceded in death by her mother, Alice; father, Alvin; father-in-law, Lehman; nephews Shane and Chris; grandson, Brayden.

Alicia, never one to mince words, would want it made clear that she simply received an offer she couldn't refuse. Included in the offer was, a reunion with family and friends she had not seen in far too long, full and miraculous

She had an effortless charm as well as the ability to make people feel special just for knowing her. Her impact on the lives of family and friends cannot be overstated. Alicia was one of a kind and her life deserves celebration.

“ Alicia was a sweet woman with lots of spunk. I went to visit her in the hospital, as I knock on the door of her hospital room. She said, I have no idea who you are . but come on in. That is the type of sweet natured person that she was. She will be truly missed. God bless her and her family.

“ One of my best memories of Alicia was when she and I worked together at the Garden of Eden. I thought she was hilarious, especially in the way she liked to put our boss in his place when he was leaning a little too much on "Being the Boss". She was a little spit fire and was pretty quick to let every one know she wasn't going to take much off anyone. Then the generosity extended by her and Sammy to help be get out of a bad situation by letting me move into a trailer they had out by their old house. Although I didn't stay long in gave me comfort knowing someone cared and made the offer. The third memory was one morning at Krogers she was standing there with a basket full of groceries and had forgot her check book. I asked her if I could help and she said Sammy was coming to bring money to pay for groceries. She was one of the very few favorite people I met while living in Hot Springs and I will always have a smile whenever I think about here. I feel so sad she was taken way to soon when having so much to offer the world. My heart goes out to her family.
