“ Hey sis, I miss you. I wish you were here to see how much I've grown and how much i have changed. I listen to alot of rock music and Melanie Martinez, I look at one ok rock and immediately know which member would be your favorite, but that isn't the point. I wanna say I'm sorry for the night before, I know it isn't my fault but I still blame myself to this day. 17 years old you haven't got to see how much I've grown. You remember the joke about kidnapping me when I turn 18?.. I miss that. I miss all the smile and selfie, all the singing in the backseat, but most of all, I miss you. You were home, and I want my home back. I love you so much and I know you're looking down at me and proud of how far I have come. 7 years and never got to say goodbye to the sweetest person in my life, but as Benson Boone says "i don't wanna say goodbye, cause this one means forever." Give aunt Laura and Nanny a kiss for me and I miss you sweet angel.

“ We were friends in Junior High. In the same friend group actually with a bunch of other kids. Very kind soul always had time for other people and had a heart made of gold. I was about 16 at the time of her passing and never really came to terms with it. I miss Deanna and often wonder what she would be doing in life right now. Shed be around 20-21 by now if she was still here. Living life like a girl her age should be right about now. Possibly having a career, a family or something simple like a fun hobby ? I just often wonder. Ill always have immense love for you Deanna. You were a good friend to me in the short time we were friends. But you made a difference in my life as well as many others, and I hope you're watching down upon us smiling. This message was long overdue but I finally found a way to express it.

“ I remembered you as a good and loving friend. You would always put a smile on anyones face. When I met you at Cutter Morning Star, you where so happy and so kind to me. I remember when you gave out keychains to all you're best friends and you gave me one and it said, I can't really remember but I think it said "I might not be perfect but I'm always right." something like that. Thank you for always being a good friend, it means a lot. I will always have that memory of you. Rest In Peace and you will always be missed.

“ I haven't had the courage to read the newest posts until today, its almost been 3 years. i still remember when me and you would sit at the front of the bus, you would have your headphone on like always listening to Melanie. I'd always tell you to sing a little louder so i could sing with you. I miss you more than anything Deanna. There is so many things i wish i would have told you or said to you. Most of all I wish i would have told you I loved you more then I told you to leave me alone or go away. I still have your drawings. one day imma become a tattoo artist and I'm going to tell everyone that comes in its all thanks to you. without you I would have never started drawling.

“ As graduation grows near I think of you more. I so badly wish we could have had that graduation together. The freedom from schooling and welcoming into the adult world. I feel as though you would have thrived with that freedom. Doing as you wish. Making whatever you would want. I wish so badly I could see your smile again and hear your laugh. I wish so badly I could hold you once more. Watch whatever you'd like even though I don't do well with horror shows. I wish I could sing with you again, huddle around chatting in math. Glance up from my work in art and see you across the room. Go to all of your birthday parties not caring if I was supposed to go to my dads or not. Play fnaf with you. I feel like you would have loved so many games that have come out. I wish you could have heard Melanie's newest songs. So much stuff I wish I could show you and get excited about. I guess I'm just trying to say I miss you. I still owe you so many drawings. I feel like you'd love my art style now. I feel like I'd love yours. I hope you're up there painting the sky right now. Such a beautiful day.

Ill be 16 this year, you would have been 18. I miss you everyday. I never told you how much you meant to me, but its a little too late now. I love you, I wish you was here, because the best part of our birthday was being able to share it with you. I miss you everyday. I remember your favorite color being purple, so It turned into mine to. I've been doing bad since you left. I miss you like crazy. HA, remember when we would sing butterfly kisses together, we played that at the funeral. Rest in peace love.

“ I can remember when I first met Deanna last year. We bonded over our interests and our friendship grew as we reached 9th grade. I will miss joking around with you at lunch with our other friends. You were so talented and inspired me to want to be as talented of an artist as you. Although I never could be, I will forever cherish the drawings you gave me, and the memories that I have of you will never fade. I really wish you knew how much you meant to everyone and how much you will be missed. You were a truly amazing person.

I can remember it like yesterday. Me and her were listening to Melanie Martinez "Crybaby" and "Dollhouse". She was a sister to me. I wish I was there and help her more. Like she did me. But I know one day I will see her again. Deanna just know you inspired a lot of people at school even though they were a butt. I love you.*

“ She was the bestest friend I could ever have. We met in 5th grade when she went to Cutter. We had a lot in common. When I heard what happened, I couldn't do anything but break down and cry. I know how it feels to lose someone like that. That's how I lost my dad. I know what you're going through, it's hard, and almost no one understands. She was too young. I will miss her so much. I've cried so much its unreal. I can only imagine what you're going through. It's tough. Especially since she was so young and had so much to live for. I will be at the service, no matter what. She will be deeply missed
