Cancer is horrible, but there's peace knowing that she's no longer suffering. Momma was the most beautiful person inside and out. She was so much more than a Mom she was teacher, counselor, best friend, she taught us how to be strong, confident and about honesty, respect and most of all loyalty.

There's a piece of us missing and there always will be. We will always remember your beautiful smile, your contagious laugh, your beautiful long blonde hair, the way you smell, how hard you've always worked, everything you've ever given up/sacrificed, the way you stood up for yourself and others, always putting others first before your needs.

Thank you for always being there for us - any day, any time, we could call you about anything.

A month or 2 ago, we had an appointment at CARTI and there was a homeless man at the gas station pushing a cart. She was so adamant about me pulling over there, just so she could give him a $20 bill and say "Stay Blessed." While she was struggling so much herself. She still wanted to bless someone. That's the kind of person she was. She helped anybody and everybody!

We will always remember how you were so selfless in many situations, with many people, even strangers.

We'll see you on the other side, Mom.

WE LOVE YOU

“ A Precious Spirit full of kindness and Joy. The world will be dimmer because it has lost Jody's light. Prayer is free and a deep felt prayer goes out to her family because they have lost a beating heart of pure love and a soul so strong it can never be replaced.

“ I started this a almost a week ago but couldn't complete it until now. So here goes.
I thought Jody you were a Truly great person when I first met you but as time went on I realized you were truly a great and amazing friend, confidant, sister, daughter and oh boy when you were in your Mom mode nothing got past you cause you were on it. You gave me so much in such a short period of time. I became family before I even knew it. I could talk or text you on messenger whatever I was feeling and you would give it to me truthfully. If you felt I was being taken advantage of you would stop me in mid sentence and tell me you weren't going to listen anymore because it angered you and you didn't want me to be hurt and taken advantage of. I could see it in your face the one time we were talking and it didn't set right with you but that's the way you and I were but most of the time we saw eye to eye. You called me baby even tho I'm much older than you but you also called me numerous times your purple and you were my person. I really thought we were going to have a long friendship but God had other plans because Lady you could light up a room by just smiling. I believe God saw that light in you and needed it to show others the best way to live. To say I was blessed to have known you would be an understatement..Jodygrl you are still my person and I am your purple. The day you left you took a piece of my heart. When we meet again I will be whole again until then keep watch I'll be the one with the missing piece of her heart and the purple hair. I love you forever and a day. Your purple girl "Jeanne"

“ I admire her so much... She was a very strong woman! She was funny, sweet and she could say something with a smile on her face 😊 and at the same time it'd be so sinister LOL 🐱 😭 it was so funny she said to me one day (my ex and I split up) Jody said you want me to throw some nails in the driveway I will...she said that just to get me to smile 😏 of course I told her no ...we won't do any of that kind of stuff! 😏 I'm going to miss her so much 😞😞 she was beautiful on the inside and out! Everything that you said about her is so true! ❤️❤️❤️❤️

“ We enjoyed sitting during the day when no one was around and talking about raising our already grown kiddos, but still how lucky we were to have then and that they could've put us through so much worst and that we were really proud of each one of them. Talking with her helped me deal with the death of my son and gave her someone to listen about her love for her grandmother. She will be dearly Missed.
