“ Dear Sandy, Jason and Jessica I was both shocked and broken-hearted when I first heard of your loss this past Saturday. Although words never seem adequate at a time like this, prayers never seem to fail, and you and your entire family have mine in abundance. While those who know you and what you must have meant to each other assist you in mourning your loss, I in particular am comforted by the fact that you had such a long and full life together, though it never seems to be enough time. In time I hope you will focus on celebrating all that was good while letting go of that which is painful. I hope you lean on those who love you and support one another as best you can while bearing in mind, "When you pass through the waters, I will be with you; and through the rivers, they shall not overwhelm you; when you walk through fire you shall not be burned, and the flame shall not consume you." – Isaiah 43:1

Larry's legacy and memory will live on through each of you, particularly those grandchildren he adored. All my love Joyce McClard Stacks

“ My heart is heavy to hear about Larry. I worked with him at Feather-lite/Chamber door for years until it closed. We all worked in the paint room and we did act a fool there. He was a friend who loved to have fun.

“ Larry was more than my beloved first cousin, he was more like the little brother I never had. All those wonderful memories of weekends and summers spent at Ma and Paw Carrington's house---playing baseball, riding go carts, climbing trees, chasing his ducks, getting into Paw's AP & L truck when we weren't supposed to--hearing voices on his radio, swearing it was him and he knew we were in the truck! Boy, did we get out of that truck fast!! Climbing trees when he had specifically told us not to and hoping he wouldn't catch us--- what a thrill. Even though I was a girl, he always included me in all the summer activities in the neighborhood, after all, I was the one with the catcher's mitt. After Grandma passed away and we were no longer together for family gatherings like we had been for decades, I still had such fond memories of our time at their house. He had such a kind and giving nature---such a gentle soul, always defending me when the "bad kids" in the neighborhood tried to pick on me. My heart aches, as I know others feel the same way, but I will always have those special memories of our family gatherings at Ma and Paw's house. Thanks, Larry, for that! I love you!

“ Larry was probably the most sweetest and patient man ive ever met. I never seen him upset.. He would sit for hours waiting on his beautiful wife!! Running your own store theres so much that goes with it so she wouldnt get out on time. Id go explain whatever it was that was going on at the moment. He always understood. Their love is one thing that will never die!! They both got to experiance real and true love! I love you so much sandy and jess. Im so very sorry for yalls loss. He was truly a great man!!!!
