“ Matthew loved his family. I met him for the first time and his love for Ava touched my heart and inspired me. I thought how blessed this little cutie is to have a man love here so much and how much trouble I would have getting to spend time with her. Lol. He got to know me and in turn I him and ava was our common ground. I loved his smile and the way he loved you Allison . Hold on . These are the things that not even death can change.(Vee) Veronica Moore
