“ I wrote this poem for Mildred as I sat with her Saturday morning before she passed later that day.

*Mildred Weatherford Burke, leader of the pack
Queen of the Canasta Sisters, that's a fact
The matriarch of the family
A wealth of knowledge for you and me*

*The oldest living Weatherford at ninety-five Throughout her life she surely thrived
Devoted wife, sister, cousin and aunt
Her love for her family members was grand*

*Cooking, shopping, vacationing too
These were some things that she loved to do
Cruising around in her pink Barbie jeep
She felt like a celebrity in that thing*

*Though she never had any kids of her own
Her love for her siblings' kids she made known
She has always been there full of support
An angel sent straight from the Lord*

*Now she lays in her nursing home bed
Preparing to meet Jesus, she's near the end
I'm thankful for everything I learned
From my aunt; I love you, Mildred Weatherford Burke*
