“ I started coming to First Assembly (now Legacy) in 2010. That is when I met a very special lady. She knew folks in church who needed visiting and a meal now and then, and asked me to help her do so. She wanted to always organize a dinner for the family of a loved one who passed away, to make it easier for them after the memorial service. She wanted to organize who brought what to the senior luncheons, to make sure there would be enough for all. Faye had a big, caring heart. When I walked in the Heritage room and saw her sitting there, I had a sense of security, that everything would be all right...and it was. I told her I thought of her as The Queen of the Church, and called her that. I am guessing that when we all get to Heaven we will see the Lord has put her in charge of The Marriage Supper! I hope she will make her yummy dressing!

“ I enjoyed serving Wilma as her hospice chaplain. I loved her spirit & her love for God & for her church. She possessed herself in a very independent way (straight forward & kinda sassy) which I found to be delightful.

She was definitely one of a kind. May you find comfort in knowing that she has inherited the gift of eternal life & now awaits the the time when we will join her. Praying for your strength & courage as you continue your life without her presence.

Faye was a very special lady. She had a great as big as Texas. We have always considered she & her family as our family. She loved my Mom & Dad & would do anything in the world for them. On the holidays she would make her special dressing & Barbara would bake her famous coconut cake. We will miss Faye but she is with her Master waiting for us to join her. Our thoughts & prayers are with the family.
